Education

24 Oct 1852 deacon Sierra Leone (Owen Emeric VIDAL) for London for colonies (at S Mary Islington, presented by the Revd Henry VENN CMS and by TB MURRAY for the SPCK)

30 Nov 1852 priest London (BLOMFIELD) for colonies as 'chaplain for Pitcairn Island' (in Fulham church, presented by Prebendary TB MURRAY) (284)

Positions

NOBBS own accounts of his background and earlier life are complex and unclear. The compiler of this biography refers the enquirer to his descendant's book:

see George Hunn Nobbs 1799-1884 chaplain on Pitcairn and Norfolk Island, by Raymond Nobbs (1984:Norfolk island)

However, by his own account:

in school at his mother's request

1811 midshipman royal navy HMS ROEBUCK

1813 HMS INDEFATIGABLE (under Thomas COCHRANE 10th Earl of DUNDONALD) during which time he visited NSW and VDL

Note: 1814 Lord DUNDONALD dismissed from the Royal navy for fraud, served in rebel navies of Chile, Brazil, Greece. He was one source of inspiration for naval fiction including 'Horatio Hornblower'

1816– 1821 to Valparaiso, privateer in South America (under British government license)

1819 in merchant service to India

1821 – 1822 lieutenant in Chilean navy (again with Lord COCHRANE a mercenary) twice the prisoner of the Chileans

Oct 1822 to Naples

Jun 1823 to Sierra Leone in command of the ship HMS GAMBIA

However more securely stated:

24 Nov 1825 departed England HMS CIRCASSIAN to Calcutta [Kolkata] India;

Aug 1827 passage on an American ship OCEAN for Valparaiso

May 1826 en route to Pitcairn, reached Calcutta [Kolkata]

reached Callao via Singapore, New York, Rio, and Valparaiso (69)

Certainly:

05 Nov 1828 from Callao Peru arrived with HMS Noah BUNKER, schoolmaster (vice John ADAMS died 05 Mar 1829) on Pitcairn Island

Mar 1831 entire community moved from Pitcairn to Otaheite [Tahiti]

Mar 1829 nine months the teacher Gambier Island, connections with London Missionary Society, and returned to Pitcairn

10 Aug 1852 Admiral Fairfax MORESBY of HMS PORTLAND paid costs for him to go for ordination training

England; in his absence the admiral's chaplain the Revd WH HOLMAN acted as locum teacher, and so celebrated 1st eucharist on Pitcairn

30 Nov 1852 licence of bishop of London for Pitcairn chaplaincy (111)

The Pitcairn Island Fund Committee was formed in England with support of SPG, with leadership from inter alios the Bishop of London, Sir Thomas Dyke ACLAND, Arthur MILLS MP, and William COTTON with the Revd Thomas Boyles MURRAY, rector S Dunstan-in-the-East as honorary secretary (Note: Thomas Dyke ACLAND son of the Revd Peter Leopold Dyke ACLAND of Broad Clyst Exeter, (Feb 1860) pupil Rugby, settler New Zealand and died 1892 New Zealand)

17 Dec 1852 departed England HMS PORTLAND with Admiral MORESBY via South America, Valparaiso

15 May 1853 arrived Pitcairn

(see George Hunn Nobbs 1799-1884 chaplain on Pitcairn and Norfolk Island, by Raymond Nobbs (1984:Norfolk island)

May 1853 – 1856 1st (SPG-funded) missionary to Pitcairn island (47)

see http://Anglicanhistory.org/oceania/pn/colonial_church1850.html

08 Jun 1856 – 1884 on closing of the convict station on Norfolk island, stationed with Pitcairn islanders on Norfolk Island diocese New Zealand and until 1920 centre of the Melanesian mission; JC PATTESON acted as bishop for the Norfolk islanders on the invitation of the bishop of Tasmania.

Jun 1859 arrived Thomas ROSSITER (born c1825 died Mar 1893) government storekeeper: NOBBS relinquished oversight of the school to ROSSITER previously schoolmaster Anglican Industrial School in Hertfordshire.

initially opposed establishment of a Melanesian Mission station on Norfolk island, however by:

31 Dec 1864 letter to SPG, he wished Norfolk island were in the diocese Melanesia rather than Tasmania (180)

Oct 1866 headquarters of the Melanesian mission transferred from Auckland to Norfolk island

1867 relinquished role of doctor to Wyatt WATLING

1884 at his death, the Melanesian Mission took over pastoral care until 1886 the Revd TPW THORMAN was appointed chaplain (See George Hunn Nobbs 1799-1884 chaplain on Pitcairn and Norfolk Island, by Raymond Nobbs (1984:Norfolk island))

1870 laid foundation stone of new 'Pitcairners' church' All Saints Norfolk Island (111;47;261)

Note: his sixth son Edwin NOBBS and his son Alfred NOBBS with Fisher (or Fysher) YOUNG (also a Pitcairn islander, grandson of Edward YOUNG midshipman of the HMS BOUNTY) worked with the Melanesian Mission, and died at Santa Cruz 15 Aug 1864 (see Feb 1920 Southern Cross Log)

[Note: 05 Aug 1938 administration of the parish Norfolk island was transferred to the diocese of Sydney (111)]

Other

17 Feb 1871 RH CODRINGTON wrote to his brother that NOBBS was certainly the son of the 'old Marquis of Hastings George... Lord MOIRA'; at first took the name FRENCH after his mother, but assumed that of NOBBS when he came to Pitcairn. (micro-MS-0101 ATL)

1926 SEDGWICK the bishop of Waiapū reported to synod that 'in two settlements (Matapihi, Maungotapu) in the Bay of Plenty in the Tauranga District our church people have wholly gone over to Ratana ... no longer wanted the ministrations of the Church ... All along the East Coast, amongst the Ngatiporou and in the part of the Bay of Plenty ministered to by the Revd Canon PAHEWA, the Church people have been untouched by Ratana's influence; and there is very little evidence of his influence in Rotorua and district ... None of our Māori clergy have joined the movement. A fair number of our licensed lay readers have done so, in most cases elderly men ... The lesson to be drawn from the Ratana and such-like movements is plain. The antidote is the teaching of the faith, the full Catholic faith. Without this our Māoris young and old are a prey to every "prophet" that arises' Waiapū Church Gazette

ca 20 Nov 1955 on the sudden death of WW AVERILL the vicar of Merivale, Dss PARK took the family service. Her singing voice was loud and confident with a pronounced warble which we children found very funny; she went up and down the aisles of the nave, teaching us to repeat for the late vicar, 'Rest eternal grant unto him o Lord, and let light perpetual shine upon him'.

ca Dec 1960 I served her in Beath's record department, as always spruce in her deaconess uniform and short veil, firm swift action and speech

Her remarkable ministry and personality deserve her inclusion here - despite her ordination later than 1931. (MWB)

[Historical Note on Norfolk Island and New Zealand:

(1788) Norfolk Island was settled from Sydney, later abandoned, later re-settled as a 'place of secondary punishment', subject to the government of NSW and (from 1836) the bishop of Australia.

(1840-1853) on cessation to NSW, transportation of convicts continued to Van Diemen's Land [Tasmania]

(1840) Norfolk Island (remaining as a penal settlement) came under Tasmanian colonial jurisdiction and

(1842) after the creation of the diocese of Tasmania under the bishop of Tasmania.

(1856) GA SELWYN tried to buy land on Norfolk island as the base for the incipient Melanesian mission. Sir William DENISON the governor of NSW and governor general of the Australian colonies (the latter office being titular only and ceasing in 1861) objected to SELWYN's proposal because he did not want Norfolk Island to be the centre of SELWYN's Melanesian mission – he referred to 'the influence of the savage Melanesians on Mr NOBBS' carefully-guarded and child-like flock'.

(1862) first confirmation service of JC PATTESON on Norfolk island, with the consent of the bishop of Tasmania in whose diocese Norfolk island continued officially to remain

(1866) under his successor Sir John YOUNG the Melanesian mission did purchase land on Norfolk island:

(1867) Norfolk island was the headquarters for the missionary diocese of Melanesia, and thus part of the Anglican province of New Zealand.

(1913) administration of Norfolk island transferred from the NSW state to the Australian federal government

(1919) after the headquarters of the diocese of Melanesia moved to the Solomons, the parish of Norfolk island continued to be staffed by chaplains appointed by the diocese of Melanesia.

(05 Aug 1938) Norfolk island was formally transferred to the diocese of Sydney, and thus the Anglican church of Australia. (269;111)

NOTES

1924- PIGOTT as Liberal Catholic regionary bishop for Great Britain and Ireland ordained priests and bishops including the following (04 Aug 1926) George Sydney ARUNDALE as a Liberal Catholic bishop for India. ARUNDALE (born 1878 died 1945) (1889) he was tutored at his father's request by LEADBEATER; an associate of Mrs Annie BESANT (formerly married to the Revd Frank BESANT an Anglican priest), an associate of Maria MONTESSORI, private tutor to KRISHNAMURTI, (1930) with his wife lecturing in New Zealand on psychological, education, religious subjects (1934) resigned office of regionary bishop for India and instead became president of the Theosophical Society (vice Mrs BESANT), died 1945.

01 May 1944 PIGOTT and his general synod deposed Charles H HAMPTON (13 Sep 1931 consecrated by PIGOTT and WEDGWOOD as regionary bishop) as the USA regionary bishop for the Liberal Catholic Church; presenting reason, that HAMPTON had declared theosophical beliefs now optional in the Liberal Catholic Church, a declaration which was unacceptable to PIGOTT who saw them as essential. This expulsion split them into the Liberal Catholic Church International (LCCI) of North America with HAMPTON at its head for a time (with a cathedral church in Hollywood California USA), and also a continuing LCC group. PIGOTT appointed John T EKLUND (02 Jul 1939 consecrated by HAMPTON) as regionary bishop pro tempore for the USA, thus producing a third splinter group, with compulsory theosophical beliefs (internet;391)

FURTHER NOTES ON THE COMPLEX BACKGROUND OF THE LIBERAL CATHOLIC CHURCHES

28 Apr 1908 ARNOLD HARRIS MATHEW a disgraced Roman Catholic priest was consecrated a bishop with Old Catholic orders by Gerardus GUL Old Catholic archbishop of Utrecht to be the regionary Old Catholic bishop for Great Britain and Ireland; 1910 on expulsion from this legitimate Old Catholic church the illegitimate MATHEW instigated break-away groups: he proffered what others wanted, namely 'orders within the apostolic line of succession'.

23 Dec 1919 his death notice states 'archbishop of the Old Catholics in England' The Times

28 Oct 1914 FREDERICK SAMUEL WILLOUGHBY MA (1862-1928) was consecrated by MATHEW under his newly-chosen title 'archbishop of London' to be his auxiliary 'bishop of St Pancras'; WILLOUGHBY (married (1896) Louisa Emma TELFER daughter of the Revd Archibald TELFER chaplain Almshouse Worcester, they had two daughters Mary Veronica and Rachel Elaine, and son Athelstan Archibald) a disgraced Anglican priest previously (1899-1906) warden S Chad's Hostel (theological college) and vicar Hooton Pagnell (near Goldthorpe), was not Theosophist (391)

19 May 1915 WILLOUGHBY bishop of St Pancras London after stronger accusations of homosexual misconduct was by MATHEW degraded from Liberal Catholic holy orders; WILLOUGHBY continued to ordain priests and bishops, died an RC.

1915 JAMES INGALL WEDGWOOD (1883-1951) grand secretary of the Order of Universal CoMasonry, visited New Zealand and Australia lecturing for the Theosophical Society on the teachings of Madame Helena Petrovna Blavatsky and Krishnamurti. As a lay Anglican WEDGWOOD had been attached to All Saints East Clevedon (where he joined the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament), to S Alban Nottingham, to All Saints York (with Fr Patrick SHAW); a founder of the cabalistic body known as 'The Temple of the Rosy Cross' (Rosicrucian), a leading Co-Mason, a convinced Theosophist; (27 Apr 1906) information about A Comprehensive Dictionary of Organ Stops by JAMES INGALL WEDGWOOD F.S.A.Scotland The Times

1916 WEDGWOOD in London without a church alone sought episcopal orders for himself from the 'Old Catholic' breakaway group which had succeeded to MATHEW (now again a Roman Catholic); his de facto 'Old Catholic' church was only himself

13 Feb 1916 WEDGWOOD WAS consecrated by the degraded WILLOUGHBY (and KING and GAUNTLETT former RC priests) and thus became the 1st presiding bishop for the emergent Liberal Catholic church based in London

Jul 1916 WEDGWOOD initiated a new church in London for Theosophical Christians to be known as 'The Old-Catholic Church (formerly the Old Roman Catholic Church) in Great Britain'

Dec 1916 as the Revd J I WEDGWOOD chair annual convention of the Theosophical Society, in Dunedin

27 Jan 1917 'near relative of Charles DARWIN ... believes that the outstanding feature of the coming race will be beauty' Evening Post

Feb 1917 WEDGWOOD visited Auckland (and maybe ordained two Theosophical priests?)

06 Sep 1918 WEDGWOOD as 1st presiding bishop, and LEADBEATER as bishop for Australasia and Oceania set up a new church centring on a mixture of occult and Christian beliefs officially entitled the 'Liberal Catholic Church (Old Catholic)'

1919 WEDGWOOD among other Liberal Catholic priests and bishops under investigation for homosexual activities

Jul 1921 the Right Revd J I WEDGWOOD Doctor in Science of the university of Paris, gave lectures in Auckland on Theosophy 'Modern Psychism, its value and danger', and 'Where are our Dead?' ; (New Zealand Herald)

07 Mar 1922 WEDGWOOD for his habitual homosexual misconduct began to resign as 1st presiding bishop of the Liberal Catholic Church and for a while from the Theosophical Society;

1923-1951 continued in ill-health (a cocaine addict, syphilitic) and retirement at 'Karkhama' Tekels Park Camberley Surrey (07 Apr 1933) WEDGWOOD wrote to The Times, on telepathy, signing Dr J I WEDGWOOD 12 Douro Place London W8

(07 Mar 1934) WEDGWOOD wrote to The Times, on the Old Catholics and the Liberal Catholics, signing as 'founding bishop of the Liberal Catholic church';

WEDGWOOD died of tertiary syphilis, left £3 250, and wrote a book posthumously New Insights into Christian Worship (391;internet)

1915 CHARLES WEBSTER LEADBEATER in Sydney was joined by WEDGWOOD to promote the theosophical teaching of Blavatsky. LEADBEATER (baptised (Christian) 14 Mar 1854 Stockport Cheshire died 01 Mar 1934 Perth Australia) once a lay member All Saints Margaret St London and an Anglican priest (in Bramshott Liphook) survived accusations of homosexual misconduct was now more Theosophist than Christian in the Liberal Catholic church. He had been married to KRISHNAMURTI and his brother in previous incarnations and for a time honoured KRISHNA as the messiah.

22 Jul 1916 LEADBETTER in Sydney was by WEDGWOOD consecrated as Theosophical bishop for Australasia and Oceania

19 May 1922 LEADBETTER (succeeded WEDGWOOD) 2nd presiding bishop of the 'Liberal Catholic Church' until death;

04 Feb 1935 among the officiating ministers authorised by the New Zealand government were 478 Anglican, 419 Presbyterian, RC 350, Methodist 295, Ratana 120, Ringatu 31, and 5 Liberal Catholic; a further dozen spiritualist or similar sects also are listed (The Press)

Liberal Catholic sources honour WEDGWOOD and LEADBETTER as joint founders of that specific church (online material Apr 2015)

1996-1997 My assistant diocesan secretary in the diocese Dogura PNG was 'Lonsdale'; he told me his name came from his family's longterm Anglican tradition in New Britain; I was able to tell him that in all likelihood an early missionary Lonsdale PRITT had baptised his ancestor with his Christian name, for he was a missionary when the Bismarck archipelago was part of the original diocese of Melanesia, province of New Zealand. With courtesy he indicated that he had not the slightest interest but knew that they were Anglicans 'from way back'. (MWB)

in ill health often, and his work inadequate for his accepting the examination for priest's orders from the bishop of Down and Connor

Question: who was the bishop's commissary that recommended this man to be accepted for service in diocese Waiapū? Or, did he just show up in New Zealand and get a licence in the diocese of Waiapū? Was the ailing bishop, William WILLIAMS not competent to manage the diocese? (MWB)

[W WILLIAMS (25 Mar 1876) first paralysing stroke, and after second stroke (31 May 1876) resigned the see]

1876 officiating as a priest Napier S John diocese Waiapū : but not then a priest; used other's published sermons as his own yet they were well received by his congregation as was he

05 Sep 1876 45 members of the congregation petitioned the primate (HARPER bishop of Christchurch) for a further investigation into the problems at the church S John Hastings; services continued there with the Revd Samuel ROBINSON (Evening Post)

[Note the people largely supported ROBINSON and were hostile to TOWNSEND the parish priest (MWB)]

then, held services in the Protestant Hall: inhibited by J TOWNSEND the incumbent: parishioners left for Wesleyan chapel and elsewhere:
Feb 1877 the Primate HARPER of Christchurch telegraphed that ROBINSON was not to 'officiate without Incumbent's [TOWNSEND] permission'
17 Mar 1877 with a gift of 200 sovereigns departed Napier WANAKA for Sydney and (his stated intention) thence to Ireland (69)

1883-1885 while the priest was away officiated S Andrew city and diocese Brisbane Queensland
he wrote to the vestry offering to officiate regularly indicating that if he did so he would be strongly supported by a number of influential people in the neighbourhood: for unstated reasons the bishop refused to licence him

(21 Mar 1883) the bishop of Ripon Robert BICKERSTETH (of an Evangelical family) announced formal royal assent to the appointment of HELLMUTH as bishop suffragan of Hull – but this announcement was illegal as the see did not exist, and the error was corrected by HELLMUTH's subsequent licensing as assistant-bishop to the Bishop of Ripon the Evangelical BICKERSTETH

(25 Sep 1883) first ordination for Ripon by HELLMUTH DD DCL lately bishop of Huron recently arrived England to enter appointment as assistant bishop in the diocese of Ripon; residing Harrogate

[Historical Note on Norfolk Island and New Zealand:

(1788) Norfolk Island was settled from Sydney, later abandoned, later re-settled as a 'place of secondary punishment', subject to the government of NSW and (from 1836) the bishop of Australia.

(1840) when transportation to NSW ceased, it continued to Van Diemen's Land [Tasmania] until 1853.

(1840) Norfolk Island (remaining as a penal settlement) came under Tasmanian colonial jurisdiction and

(1842) after the creation of the diocese of Tasmania under the bishop of Tasmania.

(1856) GA SELWYN tried to buy land on Norfolk island as the base for the incipient Melanesian mission. Sir William DENISON the governor of NSW and governor general of the Australian colonies (the latter office being titular only and ceasing in 1861) objected to SELWYN's proposal because he did not want Norfolk Island to be the centre of SELWYN's Melanesian mission – he referred to 'the influence of the savage Melanesians on Mr NOBBS' carefully-guarded and child-like flock'.

(1866) under his successor Sir John YOUNG the Melanesian mission did purchase land on Norfolk island:

(1867) Norfolk island was the headquarters for the missionary diocese of Melanesia, and thus part of the Anglican province of New Zealand.

Other Notes

His brother William SELWYN was a member of the Ecclesiological Society (previously Cambridge Camden Society); George was an episcopal patron but before accepting that appointment, not a member. (312)

1851 Mrs Charlotte GODLEY describes him. 'A quite first-rate man, and so untiring and earnest in his calling, that you look at him almost with wonder and always with pleasure; he has such a very fine head, and regular features, and when he has lost only a few more hairs at the back of his head will be exactly like the pictures of S Carlo BORRAMEO.... No one is quite perfect, and with grief I must own that one of the Bishop's eyes is not quite so lively as the other; it is scarcely a cast, far less anything of a squint, but a slight want of unanimity that just mars the perfect benignity of his expression; and it is the greater pity, because they are such very good eyes.' After watching him with the Revd Thomas JACKSON, she noted: 'his disposition is to take a certain kind of pride in "roughing it" and "doing without" things, so that he took great pleasure in assuring Mrs JACKSON that she would find realities very different from these charming dreams [of her husband's fantasy plans for this designated see of Lyttelton/Christchurch], and Mr JACKSON was almost angered at last at the contemptuous way in which the Bishop received his little affected jokes and notions about the people and ways of going on here.' She married (i) (20 Dec 1884 S Saviour Hampstead) Norfolk Bernard MEGONE businessman born Jun ¼ 1860 Marylebone died 1922; her major court appearance (Nov 1891) was of a peculiar character, intermingling divorce, bigamy and a tangle of suits; her second (bigamous) marriage (30 May 1888 S Thomas Douglas Isle of Man) was to the very handsome Louis Clavering CLOVIS civil engineer, illegitimate son of Louis Lucien BONAPARTE (Prince Louis died 03 Nov 1891 Italy, left £10 029 probate to his second wife the Princess Clemencé and Isambard OWEN MD); after the death of his father CLOVIS (Oct 1892) by deedpoll took the surname BONAPARTE and as Prince Louis Clovis BONAPARTE died 14 May 1894 (age 35, left £357 probate to his mother Princess Clemencé BONAPARTE widow of his father, she died 14 Nov 1915 left £994 probate to Sir Isambard OWEN MD FRCP); Rosalie and Louis sued each other over family jewellery £20 000, and relationships including his bigamous marriage to Laura Elizabeth SCOTT.

1893, 1894 repentance noted by A BRITAIN and endorsed by Bishop JR SELWYN in England (261)

Jun 1897-Jul 1897 with support of Lealul [?wife?] meets with John PALMER on a visit to the Banks Islands: 'utterly broken down, speaks of repentance but blames everyone else, yet shows signs of a shift forward' (415)

but FOX (412) has the following information which does not reconcile with other information:

1878 began small school on Lakona

1878-1885 taught excellently, Banks group

1884 ordained and regarded as one of ablest best Melanesian clergy

1888 complete failure: people drove him from Lakona and he returned to Mota nd came to grief again, on Mota lived quietly on Mota and died there, not re-instated (412)

Other

1893 Bishop JR SELWYN noted: 'this man utterly broke away after years of faithful service. The Bishop, Mr. Palmer and his uncle George SARAWIA did all they could to save him, but in vain. But God's grace has not failed him, and the earnest prayers of the friends of the mission are asked for him, that the good shepherd may indeed bring this lost sheep, quite home to his fold'

Jul 1893 'Maros [TAMATA], the lapsed Deacon, after some wild proceedings resembling those of a maniac, seems to have come to his right mind, and has written a letter to Mr. PALMER, expressing deep penitence for his past conduct.' (261)

25 Oct 1894 Bishop WILSON noted that MAROS jumped overboard, claiming Florida boys were trying to kill him, but the bishop thought him mentally disturbed.

1895 Bishop WILSON: 'At Mota there had been serious trouble. Maros, the Deacon, courted a young engaged girl, and persuaded her to send back her real lover's gifts, and accept his in their place. All the people were angry about it, and then it came out that he had sinned with her. They were furious and made an armed demonstration to drive him out of Mota.

He has not gone yet, but I believe he will shortly. 'The worst of it is that G. Sarawia has been treating him, as though he had been readmitted to the Diaconate, instead of only to prayers and the Holy Communion.' Southern Cross Log

Jan 1922 obituary Southern Cross Log

His descendant Fr Anderson SAEFOA tells the family story: because of the large number of guns around in the Solomons as men returned from work as indentured labour in Queensland (and Fiji?), Charles TURU's grandfather ABUALA a custom priest was shot out of a nut tree and killed. His family had no guns for retaliation and they sent ABUALA's grand son Charles TURU with the next recruiters who came by, with instructions that he return with a gun. He was too young to work as indentured labour in the Fiji plantations and was made a domestic servant instead. In that position he was converted to the Christian faith, and brought back not a gun but Christianity to his family. He was not well received by his relatives who were not yet Christian and he founded his church at Fiu at a distance from them. He also brought the kava ceremony that sometimes is enacted in the custom house. (pers comm Fr Anderson Saefoa, Aug 2015)

05 Jul 1825 Joseph TWIGGER was charged at the King's Bench Westminster by Miss Elizabeth COLE for an alleged breach of promise of marriage. Elizabeth COLE was from a wealthy family in Leicester, whose father had died in 1817, her mother in 1819, and the guardian to whom she had been committed, Mr NEWBOLT brother to Colonel HULSE, died soon after that. Since 24 Jun 1823 she had been boarding in the home of Mrs PRING, who lived three houses away from Mrs PEERS [PEARS] and her second husband, Captain PEERS. She had soon met at the home of his mother in Coleshill, Joseph TWIGGER. He was on vacation from Oxford where he was reading for holy orders (under pressure from his mother rather than from his own desire). Elizabeth COLE found Joseph to be a 'young man of fascinating manners'; she knew that he as the eldest son would inherit an income of about £300-400 a year. (His mother's farm of 85 acres was leased at £150 a year.) She believed his attentions to be honourable, and that he intended marriage. His love letters did not declare intention of marriage (but do evidence his betting on his great enthusiasm, boxing) and were considered by the chief justice to be 'rhapsodical nonsense'. The Revd John PARKER an associate of TWIGGER when he was at Coleshill gave evidence that TWIGGER had not stated any intention of marrying Elizabeth COLE. A month before she gave birth on 10 Sep 1824, Mrs PRING had thrown her out of her house to avoid disgrace to herself and had been harboured by Mrs TWIGGER. Joseph TWIGGER had disappeared when this news reached him. Elizabeth COLE had sent the police to arrest him so that he might affiliate the child. They found him now a married man living at Kingston-upon-Hull East Riding Yorkshire, for on 10 Dec 1824 at St Leonards Shoreditch London he had married a widow Catherine LAWTON. On his arrest Joseph TWIGGER had accepted the bastardy bond for the affiliation of the child. However during the trial another local young man Charles DICKINS was accused of also having a sexual relationship with Elizabeth COLE, establishing the argument that she was a woman of loose morals. His mother stood firmly with her son Joseph TWIGGER. The defendant was 'non-suited', which means that the plaintiff had failed in her attempt to prove breach of promise. (411)

21 Dec 1832 the Revd Joseph TWIGGER was called as a prosecution witness in the trial of the 'Nuneaton rioters'. This case was about national franchise reform, buying votes, local politics, and violent behaviour. He ran away to avoid the street rioters, and when hiding behind a curtain in his room, TWIGGER heard them calling out that they would get the

'parson of Bulkington', himself. (411)

04 Sep 1843 the Revd Joseph TWIGGER of Kensall Green London contributed £5 to the National Society for the Promoting of the Education of the Poor (411)

1855 see the Christchurch coroner's report; an habitu  of the White Hart hotel, late at night on heading home fell into the River Avon and drowned. A cabbie Stephen BROOKER found his body.

1891 On the death of Charlotte TWIGGER the widow of his late cousin John TWIGGER was his heir, his estate worth £16 000 was bequeathed to the Old Men's Home in Ashburton, and the Anglican church-sponsored Female Refuge (for women having illegitimate babies) and Orphanage Christchurch

Note on the position of the bishopric of Polynesia

16 Aug 1921 On the resignation of Bishop TC TWITCHELL, the status of the bishopric was considered: whether to attach it now to the province of New Zealand or to the church of Australia. The proposals to have under the bishop of Melanesia (resident in the Solomon islands) three suffragan bishops, one of whom would be the suffragan bishop of Tonga and Polynesia, were mooted in the New Zealand Board of Missions and the Australian Board of Missions, as well as with JM STEWARD the bishop of Melanesia and the English Melanesian Committee

06 Feb 1925 at Dunedin New Zealand general synod of the province of New Zealand 'associated' the diocese of Polynesia with the church of the Province of New Zealand as a missionary diocese like Melanesia (261; minutes of general synod; New Zealand Church News, 69)

'friend and former curate to Arthur WINNINGTON-INGRAM' (1897-1901) bishop of Stepney, (1901-1939) bishop of London (202) – which is a curious claim as WINNINGTON-INGRAM was never parish priest where TWITCHELL was curate, and was no longer bishop of Stepney when TWITCHELL was (1903-1908) at All Hallows East India Docks. As bishop of London (1901-1939) he had nominal responsibility for such isolated Anglican ministries as that in Fiji. His cooperation ensured the formation of the new see based in Fiji.

Again, Charles WHONSBON-ASTON states TWITCHELL was related to Richard Twitchell MATHEWS, and that these kinsmen fell out severely. No family connection can be found, but doubtless they fell out. (MWB 2002,2009)

He was ordained after his death, and worked with zeal, though not always with discretion, at Savo, Ysabel, and Santa Cruz. For the latter group he volunteered, beseeching most earnestly that he might be the first to stay on the Islands where his 'father' Bishop PATTESON had been killed. Latterly his health broke down, and he retired on a small pension to his own home. Though in some ways he was unsatisfactory, yet his courage and faith were very notable.' (261)

Note on tabernacle

c1955 Bishop WARREN ordered the removal of tabernacle from the high altar Christchurch S Michael; on its installation on the north wall of the adjacent Pilgrims' chapel, a brass plate was set in the high altar reredos in the vacant place where the tabernacle was once secured, 'The tabernacle was removed by the order of the Lord Bishop of this diocese, Pray for the peace of Jerusalem'. This plate was removed by order of the angry bishop of the diocese, and C GAULT publicly apologised.

1963 the week after the retirement of C GAULT as parish priest Christchurch S Michael, WARREN ordered the churchwardens to remove the tabernacle from the church itself and to replace it with an aumbry; the tabernacle was accepted by JC VOCKLER bishop in Polynesia for the Anglican cathedral in Fiji (pers comm. Isla Hunter, previous headmistress Hukarere Māori girls' college Napier). (2012 it was not seen to be in the cathedral in Suva pers com PO Williams) For more on this topic, see ALLERTON, ARTHUR RUSSELL, and GAULT, CECIL (MWB)

Note on ordination as deacon:

Neither place, nor year, nor bishop for his ordination as deacon is actually given by WILLS. This reticence is unexpected in a man who from other accounts enjoyed self-promotion. A possible motive for this silence is unravelled below.

1865 Family information (from a 1922 newspaper interview with WILLS in Melbourne) has him ordained in England in 1865. This is not true.

Jun 1866 The history of the diocese of Bloemfontein says Joseph Harris WILLS left England for the Orange Free State to join the first bishop for the missionary diocese of Orange River Free State. Bishop Edward TWELLS ordained him deacon after arrival in South Africa. See Some Account of the Diocese of Bloemfontein by Archdeacon CRISP (Oxford: James Parker 1895)

Jul 1869 Charges of sodomy were prepared against Bishop TWELLS, who under a pseudonym fled the country for Britain. TWELLS resigned the see 02 Aug 1869, and died 04 May 1898 Clifton Bristol

Embarrassment might have inclined WILLS to avoid later reference to his ordaining bishop. (For background information, see N SOUTHEY 'Uncovering Homosexuality in Colonial South Africa: the case of Bishop Twells' in South African Historical Journal No.36, May 1997; see also the SPG history by PASCOE, which obscures identity of TWELLS, referring to him as the bishop of the Orange River, a missionary of the Society, and to his resignation (47))

1870-ca Jun 1872 Church registers have WILLS baptising in S Alban Pretoria. His ministry as a deacon was clearly acceptable to the successor to TWELLS, Allan Becher WEBB, (from 1870) 2nd bishop of the diocese of Bloemfontein, previously diocese of the Orange River Free State.

1881 has his very first appearance in Crockford: 'J H WILLS, formerly incumbent of Green Ponds diocese Tasmania, incumbent of Forth and Leven.' - but has no information on his ordinations, nor of his years in South Africa, nor of his brief ministry in the diocese of Christchurch New Zealand. Without alteration the identical entry repeats annually to 1885, even though he had left Forth & Leven after a scandal, in 1881;

1886 edition of Crockford gives him (erroneous) Christian names 'John Henry';

1889 edition of Crockford lacks contemporary information, 'formerly incumbent of Green Ponds';

1890-1915 editions of Crockford omit his entry altogether. (8)

1916-1923 editions of Crockford show him restored to the status of licensed priest in the diocese of Tasmania – he had been out of church ministry since 1881. Crockford now has 'Joseph Harris WILLS, of Whitemark Flinders Islands Tasmania Australia, deacon and priest 1873 Christchurch. Formerly incumbent of Green Ponds 1876-1878; Forth and Leven 1879-1882. 1915- vicar Furneaux islands diocese Tasmania.' (8)

Thus in his last years (from the evidence of his entry in Crockford) WILLS claimed to have been ordained both deacon and priest in 1873 by HARPER the bishop of Christchurch. This is certainly incorrect, for HARPER, on accepting his ordination as deacon in South Africa, ordained him priest. HARPER was conscientious and his registrar would have checked the ordination papers of WILLS before proceeding to the priesting.

His removal of any reference to his ordination as deacon in South Africa is the climax of his consistent intention to obscure his years in South Africa from church view. Was this a life-long avoidance of the disgrace of his bishop, Edward TWELLS? (MWB)

Claims

1865-1872 FAMILY INFORMATION (2006) gathered from South African newspapers and from a Melbourne newspaper interview in 1922 has various claims. For instance -

WILLS claimed to have been ordained deacon 1865 in England, and then to have gone to South Africa first as the travelling chaplain to the bishop of Cape Town. - Not true. He was not ordained in England. In Jun 1866 he came to South Africa with the support of Robert GRAY metropolitan bishop of Cape Town and was at once ordained deacon by Edward TWELLS (born 1828 died 1898) the first bishop of the missionary diocese of Orange River Free State. GRAY had sent in TWELLS to sort out the problems with JW COLENZO, deposed from the see but remaining in it. (MWB;CPSA Archives, Wits University Library, Witwatersrand 2006).

WILLS claimed to have preached in the cathedral church of Pietermaritzburg. - True. Mar 1867, his Ritualist bishop Edward TWELLS of Orange River Free State with the licence of Robert GRAY the Tractarian metropolitan bishop of Cape Town, had intruded him as 'curate' into the cathedral church of Maritzburg, cathedral for the diocese of Natal. The Liberal JW COLENZO the deposed (and even excommunicated) bishop of Natal went to court to have WILLS (and other challengers to his authority) removed. See The Life of John William Colenso DD Bishop of Natal, by the Revd Sir George W COX baronet, MA rector of Scarningham, (W Ridgway, London 1888; WNL)

'In 1867 the Bishop of Natal [COLENZO] prayed the Supreme Court for an order interdicting the Revd JH Wills from officiating in any churches of the Colony set apart for the use of the Church of England and Ireland, until he had obtained the licence of the Bishop of the Diocese. The order was refused on the ground that the plaintiff had no status as Bishop...' - from the biography of Dean GREEN of Maritzburg (CPSA Archives, Wits University Library, 2006)

WILLS claimed that for three years and more at the request of the bishop of Bloemfontein and to explore possible places for church development, he went through the Transvaal goldfields and through to Matabeleland and visited Great Zimbabwe, and claimed to have been the first white man to have climbed the hills of Matopos - in what was to become colonial Southern Rhodesia (and later independent Zimbabwe) before his return to South Africa. - this is only related to the truth (MWB).

From about Oct 1869, WILLS went for maybe six months (not three years) to visit the goldfields and through to Victoria Falls and the Zambesi. (In Jul 1869 his bishop TWELLS had fled the country to avoid arrest. See below.)

Was WILLS extending the period of his visit to the interior to distance himself further from TWELLS?

While he may well have visited these places, by no means was he the first white man to have climbed Matopos hills (MWB and Neil PIERCE, who did this themselves and easily as have so many).

WILLS claimed that he returned briefly to England in 1872 and did deputation for the SPG and lectured at the Royal Society on his discoveries in Southern Africa - may be true (MWB).

Until mid-1872 WILLS was signing the baptismal register at S Alban Pretoria. The SPG history refers to the 2nd bishop, now 'of Bloemfontein' not 'of the Orange Free State' as performing clerical duty at Pretoria for three months in the absence of Mr WILLS in England (47)

In 1872 WILLS' return to England was certainly 'brief' for he and his wife were swiftly accepted by the commissary for the bishop of Christchurch, Prebendary Henry TUCKER at the SPG office in Westminster, and they quickly sailed on to New Zealand (70;MWB).

WILLS claimed that when secretary to Bishop COLENSO in the diocese of Natal he had been a close friend of Sir Henry Rider HAGGARD and been so helpful with his research for the novel King Solomon's Mines that an early edition of the book was dedicated to him in appreciation of his assistance. Untrue (MWB).

WILLS was hostile to Bishop COLENSO and was himself an intruder into the cathedral of Natal diocese.

WILLS however was close, possibly even at some point secretary, to his own diocesan bishop Edward TWELLS, but when in Jul 1869 TWELLS fled the country with sodomy charges pending, WILLS expunged all reference to any connection with TWELLS.

WILLS' claims of African friendship with Rider HAGGARD are untenable, as HAGGARD came to South Africa first in 1875, whereas WILLS had left South Africa in 1872 (MWB).

1869 at Philippolis missionary diocese of the Orange River Free State. This statement is from his initial papers given in 1873 to Prebendary TUCKER in London and thus reported to the bishop of Christchurch in New Zealand but contradicts the contemporary evidence that in 1869 he was conducting a school in Bloemfontein, and travelling into the interior (Transvaal gold mines, Victoria Falls and the Zambesi River). Furthermore there is no record of any appointment to Philippolis. The diocesan history says WILLS had initially an itinerant appointment, visiting villages across a wide district. Positions

02 Sep 1896 layreader Coogee diocese Sydney

02 Sep 1916-26 Feb 1928 canon residentiary and sub-dean cathedral diocese Bathurst

1916-1928 examining chaplain bishop Bathurst (8)

12 Oct 1927 nomination announced, to be the second assistant to the bishop of Melanesia, bishop for Northern Melanesia, ie the Mandated Territory of New Guinea, included in the diocese Melanesia; nominated by a committee of the Australian Board of Missions; the diocese to include Bougainville, islands to the north-west off the coast of Papua, and Rabaul; he would start work in the Gasmata district - he is noted as being 'exceptionally strong in health' (261)

24 Jan 1928 His consecration in Australia needed to be delayed until AVERILL the primate of New Zealand was (with a change of the canon achieved at (Apr 1928) general synod) enabled to issue the necessary mandate for the consecration of WILTON in Australia (and not New Zealand) (261)

Nov 1927 the Bathurst diocesan council (president Bishop LONG) decided to continue WILTON's normal stipend and pension contributions for him while he was overseas; he thus continued to be a member of the diocese of Bathurst and MOLYNEUX bishop of Melanesia visited WILTON in Bathurst (261)

12 Mar 1928 with Bishop FM MOLYNEUX, arrived for (19 Apr 1928-01 May 1928) general synod Auckland SOUTHERN CROSS: asked for support for the Melanesian appeal, acknowledging that the diocese needed £10 000 per annum operating costs - particularly for the aging MV SOUTHERN CROSS V (261)

04 May 1928 departed Auckland with FM MOLYNEUX, the Revd LE CARTRIDGE, the Revd GF LEGGATT, Mr D Lloyd FRANCIS (later a priest) and others, after attending general synod of the New Zealand province

30 Jun 1928 attended the diocesan synod at Siota Solomon islands (at which FM MOLYNEUX presiding was unanimously nominated to be the successor to JM STEWARD retiring bishop also present) before proceeding to Sydney for consecration:

Jun 1928 (assistant) bishop of Northern Melanesia, for the New Britain islands (then within diocese of Melanesia, now in the nation and church of Papua New Guinea); the isolated 500K stretch of coastline in the Gasmata district on the southwestern end of New Britain became his mission: 'disastrous' appointment

Aug- Sep 1928 publicity tour of parts of Australia (261) including

15 Aug 1928 women's meeting in S Gabriel Ainslie Canberra

28 Sep 1928 from Sydney MARSINA, arrived Rabaul, with staff the Revd V SHERWIN (who arrived just before he did), the Revd LE CARTRIDGE (the first recruit from England for the new initiative), and Mr Stanley G TITLER carpenter (a theological student, later ordained Australia): he made visits to Gasmata (near here was to be the main centre for the see), Lindenhafen, Salamau, and stations were to be initiated at Kalerigi, Navalapua, SagSag, Arawe; he planned a visit to England for 1930 (261)

Jan 1929 while travelling around the diocese taken ill at Toma, 40k from Rabaul, and returned thither. Bishop MOLYNEUX declared illness to be 'sunstroke' (261)

Feb 1929 though much better was to voyage to Sydney to recuperate (261) - but did not go to Sydney at once:

01 Apr 1929 Southern Cross Log announced he was ill and may need to retire (261)

18 Apr 1929 at Gasmata, on board the government schooner HERMES wrote of contact with new areas of New Britain and is about to visit V SHERWIN - no mention of illness nor of going to Sydney (261)

19 May 1929 after but six months in the diocese, arrived Sydney MORINDA on mission business - and probably stays in Australia without returning to New Guinea

01 Jul 1929 resignation accepted: he had broken down in health, been ordered to return to Australia, had set out, but felt better: and continued his work (of which he wrote in Apr 1929); the Auckland office of the Melanesian Mission had no information beyond that - he might be ill temporarily

http://Anglicanhistory.org/oceania/blain_mandated_territory.pdf

Note: Bishop MOLYNEUX made reference to the appointment of WILTON in his annual report, indicating that WILTON intended to begin work among the natives in 1929 (Jul 1929 (261))

13 Jul 1929 press report Sydney that he had resigned after a 'paralytic stroke' in the islands

09 Aug 1929 annual report of the Melanesian Mission Finance Board (in Auckland) regretted that WILTON 'unable to continue' (261)

Sep 1929 MOLYNEUX now bishop of Melanesia had accepted WILTON's resignation because of his state of health; his friend the Revd Leslie WALKER from Bathurst was due to join the staff at the end of 1929 (261)

n d 1929 resigned following allegations of sexual misconduct with youths, but 'utterly broken down in health' with 'sunstroke near Rabaul' - no further comment, neither thanks nor good wishes are offered, and against him no charges were brought in church or civil court (111;202;163;280)

However: in the private file of Major ROBINSON general manager of the Melanesian Mission office (first in Auckland; 1933- in Sydney): reference to the 'caddish behaviour' of the Australian Board of Missions [ABM] towards WILTON: the reason given here for WILTON's 'forced resignation' was a series of sexually explicit letters written by 'ladies' to WILTON: when brought to the attention of the ABM these were deemed grounds to request his resignation. ABM subsequently subverted attempts to 'rehabilitate' WILTON - ROBINSON had not in fact seen the letters (Church of Melanesia archives, Honiara, Solomon Islands, information from T Brown Jan 2009)

Southern Cross Log ABM review announcement: 'The Bishop feels unequal to the immense difficulties of the work, and of the special problems which have gathered around the work of the Melanesian mission. The Bishop is remaining at Maravovo College, Solomon islands [under JM STEWARD first theological college established there], and the Revd Paley WILSON is acting-administrator.' (261)

30 Apr 1919-12 May 1919 Acta of 21st general synod of the province of New Zealand: bishop of Auckland (AVERILL) as chair of the select committee proposed that the diocesan staff had adopted the only course open to them to obtain an adjustment of their legitimate grievances against their bishop; and advised the staff of this sympathy and invited proposals for the future conduct of the Mission; the select committee on the affairs of the Melanesian Mission reported (09 May 1919) that they had considered the statement of the Bishop of Melanesia submitted to the Archbishop of Canterbury, had heard the administrator of the diocese of Melanesia, and unanimously agreed that the staff had adopted the only course open to them to obtain an adjustment of their legitimate grievances; they had considered the suggestions of the English Committee, the chairman of the Australian Board of Missions, and the Administrator of the diocese of Melanesia, and suggest that the staff of the Melanesian Mission be informed that the Church in New Zealand was prepared to consider with sympathy such proposals as they might make as to the future conduct of the Mission and requested formulation of their proposals to be submitted to a Commission of General synod to be set up

Southern Cross Log editorial comment: often in poor health, difficulty in keeping the work going, had not seen his way to make his headquarters in the islands; duties called him away from the ordinary work in the islands, and from lack of encouragement the island work suffered. [He was personally and particularly distressed at the tragic unnecessary deaths of missionaries LONG, SAGE and others.] The Maravovo conference carried a unanimous vote of dissatisfaction at the bishop's non-residence in the islands and his inability to adapt himself to the needs of the Mission.
